VIEWS OF LIFE.

From the Paris Spectator, of February 12, 1814.

ON EGOTISM.

I was once acquainted with a M. d'Argeville, an officer of dragoons, who lived very pleasantly among his comrades, without any other secret than that of neither conferring or receiving a favor from any person whatever. Nature had not made him an egotist; he had become so by system in consequence of two or three unlucky adventures, which appeared to him to have equally originated in the integrity of his heart. He had lost his best friend, by having rendered him an essential service in lending him an essential sum, which he was unable to reclaim but by quarrelling with the borrower. In attempting to arbitrate one affair of honor, he made himself two; from one of his adversaries he received a wound which confined him six months to his bed; he killed the other, and was in consequence obliged to quit his country for two years. Some other misfortunes of the same kind had sufficed to extinguish his natural benevolence; in order to destroy those feelings he had adopted principles to which he so firmly adhered, that he would neither have lent a crown to his brother, nor have uttered a word to save the lives of two of his comrades: he frequently repeated that "in this world it was necessary to center one's self within a circle of not more than two feet diameter."

It is painful to reflect that one of our most celebrated wits and distinguished philosophers—that Fontenelle, whose long life must, of all others, have furnished a train of experience in the human heart; it is painful, I say, to think that this celebrated man was tainted or rather contaminated with egotism, to such a degree as to have sanctioned, under his name, that anti-social aphorism, that there is no perfect happiness without a callous heart and a good stomach. This expression, which might have escaped the ingenuity of an egotist, or even the caprice of a philanthropist, could not have acquired a dangerous authority, except in the mouth of a man whose brilliant and fortunate career supplies in the opinion of many persons but a long commentary on it.

Among the famous egotists of the last age, we cannot forget the Marchioness Desfont, who during the last month of the life of her old friend, the President Henault, passed all her evenings with him. She made her appearance at Madame de Forcalquier's; every one concluded that the President was better, but on his health being inquired after, "Alas!" said she, "I had the misfortune to lose him this morning, or you would not have seen me here."

Every one knows the reply made by Colardeau, when dying, to his friend Barthe, who requested his opinion on his comedy of the Selfish Man, which he came to read at his pillow. "You may add an excellent trait to the character of your principal personage," replied Colardeau, "Say that he obliged an old friend, on the eve of his death, to hear him read a five act comedy."

I should compose a book instead of a paper, did I attempt to trace even in outline the different portraits of egotism, for which society through all its gradations, supplies me with models. I shall confine myself to one only, which I have accurately observed, and which appears to me to have attained perfection or rather to have reached the ideal deformity of a defect, to which I know few vices which are not preferable.

St. Chaumont has arrived at the age of forty, without having formed an idea, or felt one sentiment estranged from his own person. In order to give full force to that expression, Myself, with him, exceeds a single word. He always takes care to couple it with Ly I myself, begin all his phrases; he knows no evils but those which he feels, no satisfaction but those which he enjoys; if he is abroad, and it rains—the shower, he is convinced falls only for him; he is on foot in the streets—he cannot conceive why carriages are tolerated; is he in a carriage, he complains of the rigor of the police which does not allow foot passengers to be run over with impunity; all his actions, thoughts and opinions, are so many answers to those questions which he continually addresses to himself: "What inconvenience will it occasion me? What advantage shall I derive from it? In what way can it serve me?"

Saint Chaumont has, in the world, the reputation of an honest man: what then is the value of his word? One of his friends came to advertise him one evening, that he should have occasion for him at seven the next morning, on an affair in which his entire fortune, his happiness, and that of his family depended. The appointment is precise, and one half hour of delay will annihilate all his hopes. Saint Chaumont promises to be exact; but he never gets up until nine o'clock; he runs a risk of disappointing himself for the whole day, by an infringement of any of his habits. At eight he is still in bed; his friend arrives, presses, conjures him; he rises, but he never goes out fasting; his physician has interdicted him from it, on penalty of a frightful headache: he must fortify himself against the cold; puts on wrappers, wraps his waistcoats, & stuffs his ears with cotton; he sets out, gets into a coach, arrives; the affair was terminated two hours ago; the ruin of his friend is completed. "What?" says Saint Chaumont, "it was really a great pity to make one get up so early!"

Last year we were visiting together in the country; one evening the son of the master of the house, taking a walk in the park, fell into an empty well, the top of which they had neglected to cover, and dislocated his ankle. The gardener announced the accident; some ran to assist the young man, others prepared a mattress in the saloon to receive him. On this mattress Saint Chaumont sunk down in a swoon; several pressed round him, administered hart-horn, and his spirits began to revive. Some one, who mistook the cause of this fainting fit, thought to tranquillize him, by assuring him that the accident was less serious than had been imagined, that the youth had not broken his leg. "Very good," said he, "but I am not the less shocked at the danger I have run: I was yesterday evening walking in the same place, and the very same accident might have happened to myself."

These two characteristic traits of a perfect egotist, render it unnecessary that I should exhibit him in less important particulars: at table, either at home or abroad, always helping himself to the best dishes; at the play, always occupying the best place in the box, without regard to age, rank, or even sex: in the drawing-room, standing in front of the chimney, monopolizing the fire, perfectly regardless of the inconvenience occasioned by its privation to others. At whatever time, in whatever attitude, we observe him, we find him always occupied with himself when awake, and dreaming of himself when asleep.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14.

A respected friend favored the Editor this morning with a copy of the Louisiana Gazette, containing the interesting information respecting the Spanish outrage, which will be found in this day's paper.

New Orleans, Sept. 14.

Under a free and popular form of government like ours, it is the high privilege of the citizens to form and express opinions in all trying emergencies, and the government itself is bound to regard the public sentiment, and in some measure to direct its operations in conformity to it.

There is little doubt that, in consequence of an unexampled outrage upon the national flag and the measures of retaliation adopted by the naval commander on the New Orleans station, that our country is on the eve of a war. I am proposed therefore, that a meeting of the citizens of New Orleans be held on Thursday at 12 o'clock, at Maspero's Coffee House, in order to express in a respectful address to the executive of the U. States, our indignation at the outrage upon our flag, and our readiness to support the government in such measures as it may take in order to obtain satisfaction for the same.

SPANISH AGGRESSIONS.

We copy the following letter from the Orleans Gazette of this morning. Comment is useless—the tale is told to our countrymen and we will not so far slander them as to suppose for a single instant that an American can read it without a strong feeling of just resentment at injuries and insults which are only the more galling from being inflicted by such a people.

Bay of St. Louis, Sept. 8, 1816.

DEAR SIR,

Nothing of importance occurred after leaving port until the morning of the 27th of August last, when not far from Vera Cruz, at day break, we found ourselves near three vessels, which proved to be his Catholic Majesty's ship Diana of 24 guns, commanded by Jose Sorondo; the hermaphrodite brigs Cassidor and Le Gera, of 18 guns each, the names of the commanders of the two last mentioned vessels were refused to be given us.

There were not less than five hundred men on board the two first mentioned vessels, as besides their crews they had many soldiers. The La Gera appeared to be in chase of another vessel. The Diana and Cassidor made for us, captain Cunningham at the same time approaching them. As we approached within pistol shot, one of the Spaniards on each side of us, at the very moment that our flag was hoisted, the Cassidor, without halting, or without any ceremony, fired some of her cannon loaded with grape and canister into us and a volley of musketry. Captain Cunningham immediately leaped on a gun, and hailed, stating who we were, and demanding the cause of their firing. The firing continued, intermingled with the most vulgar and billingsgate abuse. I observed a single musket aimed from the quarter deck of the Cassidor, and evidently intended for captain Cunningham who was conspicuous by his elevation on the gun and his epaulet; but which fortunately by a few inches missed him, and entered the breast of a marine, and lodged in his neck. We were ordered to send a boat on board, captain Cunningham said he would not send but he would receive a boat. We were then ordered by the Diana to send a boat on board, and lower our main sail, with a treat that in case of refusal they would sink us. Captain Cunningham ordered Lieut. A. S. Campbell to proceed on board the Diana, where his side arms were taken from him, and he was placed under a guard of marines, the g's crew were put in chains, threatened to be hung, and beat with swords, the marks of which are yet evident. Shortly after a lieutenant came on board of the Fire Brand, and conversing with captain Cunningham in his cabin he was hailed from the Cassidor, and requested to get out of danger as he intended to fire into us, board and destroy our quarters—he replied that we were Americans—the reply from the Cassidor was that we were scoundrels and liars; and again was poured upon us every epithet of abuse that cowardice or vulgarity could suggest, and a single musket shot was fired.

At this time captain Cunningham committed the only act which in my opinion was not strictly correct. It was the result of his feelings, not his judgment, and sorely and irritated by the conduct of cowardly assassins, he exclaimed, opening his bosom and springs on a gun, "fire at me but not at my men." The Spanish boat's crew, that brought the Spanish lieutenant on board of us, when they heard the last threat, leaped over board, well knowing their own nation, and convinced that the ocean presented more probable chances of escape than our deck. The Spanish lieutenant was then hailed from the Diana, and he ordered captain Cunningham to proceed to the Diana; before he went he ordered the colours down which the Spanish lieutenant would not permit to be done.—The Spanish lieutenant mentioned while on board of us, that we had no right to navigate the Gulf of Mexico, that the Spanish king claimed its exclusive sovereignty, that we could have no commerce there to protect, that a new governor general had arrived at Vera Cruz, who had ordered out all the vessels to scour the coast, that the whole coast was in a state of blockade, that their orders were to respect the flag of no nation, that to them there was no difference between the flag of the insurgents and pirates (as they termed the Mexican republicans) and the United States. Among other insultingly unjustifiable accusations the brave and respectable captain Porter, of the brig Boxer, of robbing a Spanish vessel, and of being a pirate. The Spanish lieutenant was then hailed, and proceeded to the Diana, and soon returned with a party of marines, and took possession of the Firebrand, stating that we were to go to Vera Cruz, and if the governor found it all right, he would pay the expense of our detention, a real Spanish sentiment, dollars a salvo for wounded honor and outraged feelings. Our vessel was searched, and being prisoners, the signals, &c. were sunk. The Spanish lieutenant was again hailed, and proceeded to the Diana, and shortly after we were gratified by the return of our commander, lieutenant Campbell, & g's crew.

Captain Cunningham when he entered on board of the Diana offered his sword as a prisoner, which was refused and he was told that he must follow the Spaniards to Vera Cruz, which he indignantly rejected; his reply was that as they had so vastly a superior force they might take him where they chose, but that he would follow no vessel, and that he should represent the whole transaction to his government.—A scene of vulgar confusion and abuse passed on board of the Diana, that would disgrace an American cabin boy.

It is owing to the firmness of Capt. Cunningham that we have been enabled to reach our own shore, and that I have this opportunity to address you. For I am firmly convinced that no different treatment would have been measured to our sailors, settlers and ladies. The official statement of the outrage to American citizens and our national flag, has, I presume, before this been transmitted to Washington. And it is impossible to doubt that a just and high minded government will immediately take measures to redress her violated rights and afford to a meritorious officer an opportunity of effacing from the star-spangled Banner; the cowardly insult and ruffian out age inflicted upon it.

The American navy has shed too much of its precious blood to give to our name a renown, and our glory a splendor which will be lasting and brilliant; it is too great a favorite with the American people, not at once to point to the cabinet the only means of wiping from its standard a blot, which cowardly backed by a vastly superior force have attempted to stain it. To me who saw all that passed, there is not a doubt that the Spaniards by their outrage and vulgar abuse wished to provoke us to some act of hostility, that would afford them a pretext for our indiscriminate butchery.

They stood ready to discharge from two large vessels 42 heavy guns, against a small vessel of eight guns. They fired after they ascended who we were, they fired once after our lieutenant was on board their vessel, they abused us by every vulgar epithet, they imprisoned our officers and flogged our men they made disgraceful positions, to us they deliberately aimed at our commander, searched our vessel, and stigmatized our worthy Porter as a pirate.

And, sir, with me this recital will be completed to believe that they intended to sacrifice us to their cowardly and ignoble passion for assassination. But thank God we were saved by the firmness and prudent manner, who calmly what we were, and in a proposition, not a character of an American—owing to him we opportunity of complaining government of the war ed to its citizens and to furnish the reputation its justice we appeal, a rience that our govern to redress our wrong honor of our flag.

I am,
P. S. It would be ment to examine the assumed by the Spani elusive navigation of their declarations would do if they we rage and force.

HAVANA.

From the government paper of Havana, of September 6.

Instructions have been issued by the superintendent, ad interim, of the royal treasury, in compliance with the royal order of the 5th of June last, that no foreign vessels shall be admitted into the ports of this island, unless they present the certificates of our consuls residing in the places from which they come. The term of four months is allowed, that notice of this regulation may be given in the United States, & other foreign countries in America, and the term of eight months is allowed for a like object as to the countries in Europe—it being understood that at the termination thereof the said precautionary measure will be rigorously enforced.

Havana, August 16, 1816.

SEBASTO.

New York, Oct. 16.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

Extract of a letter, dated Liverpool, 24th Aug.

Important Regulations.—The detention of two American vessels, because their crew were not made up of three fourth American subjects, leads us to remark upon it—that by the Act 12 Charles 2, chap. 11, all foreign vessels are required to be navigated with three fourths of the crew subjects of the country to which such foreign vessels belong. In the above recited case, relief was obtained upon application to government, but it is well for ship owners to understand the extent of their responsibility—which is, that by strange of the due delivery of the cargo through any irregularity of the ship owners or masters, the proprietors to demand having right of action for all damages arising out of fall in markets, injury of credit, and the like; for such is the responsibility, that the value of the vessels might hardly compensate for the consequences.

Of Markets.—The general state of trade is so far improved, that money is becoming comparatively plentiful, and most articles now find purchasers at the current price. We have it is true, to complain of an extensive peace tariff, which abstracts so much from the proceeds of property, as in the instance of foreign Pine Timber, to leave little or no residue, but to produce in general, the remark will not equally apply, and of course every adventurer must count his cost as to what his article can be afforded at. Our subsequent remarks and quotations have for their object to guide and inform in this particular.

Askes.—It will be seen from the subjoined list of imports, that since our Price Current of 23d June, there has been imported 9315 casks, viz.

From New York	4266
Boston and Massachusetts	3415
Canada	1993
Sweden	221

making a total import in this year of 14,516 casks from all parts. For this supply, our home consumption would not have sufficed, but there has been and still continues an export demand for the continent, which, during the last and present month, has contributed in a great degree to sustain prices. The Irish markets too have mainly partaken in their supplies from Liverpool, and this market may be considered as the emporium or common resort for the articles of ashes throughout G. Britain. In this point of view, the extent of our supplies will lose something of their importance—and the more so, as, during last week alone, our sales have exceeded 2500 barrels. With a view, however, to form some opinion of the course which markets are likely to take, we have to state, on the one hand the limited employment given at this time to the bleachers, their works being barely half employed, and hence a proportionate diminution in their use of ashes. Another cause to affect the price of ashes is as respects Canada, and but for the immediate call from the continent it is more than probable that the Markets here would have receded materially under an apprehension of large supplies by our Quebec and Montreal ships, of which few have yet arrived. On the other hand, as we have noticed above, large claims have been made from our stock of ashes for foreign markets to the relief of our own, and this demand continues, and yet remains to be seen whether part at least of the supplies expected from Canada may not already have found their way via the States—and further, if the Vermont dealers have indeed availed themselves, (and they have had abundant encouragement this year, by reason of the high prices of the State markets, in preference to those of the St. Lawrence), we are to consider that prices here are no longer profitable, and of consequence the American merchants will be induced to try other channels, where a better prospect is afforded. Upon the whole, however, it will be seen, that circumstances warrant no positive conclusion, but judging from present appearances and temper of the market, there are grounds for hope in a continuance of good peace prices—and more than these there is nothing in the times to warrant an expectation of soon again seeing realized.

Grain.—The ports are now closed against Foreign Wheat and Flour for another quarter, except under lock which is at all times permitted, but apprehensions are entertained for the harvest, and prices have risen 6d per bushel, last market day. Rice has advanced, owing to a considerable export, as well as from the cause above stated and the quantity at market is much lessened.

Naval Stores.—The low prices of Tar and Turpentine have at length induced attention from Speculators, and the diminution of American imports is a circumstance in their favor. In London, prices of Tar have risen 1s. 6d. per barrel, and Turpentine 1s. 6d. per barrel, and canoes could not be purchased here under 12s. for common Wilmington, whilst thick rosin Virginia, being exceedingly scarce, commands 15s. to 16s. per barrel. As the trade too are understood to be tightly stocked, and will have shortly to become purchasers, there is a great confidence in the advance being maintained, though near to approach of our Archangel supplies operates as a check to any very material improvement, and this last description attracts but little regard, even at former prices. In Turpentine considerable business has been done, and some thousand barrels have come out of the market, whilst the trade and speculators purchase without regard to quality and parcels offered. The sales this week amounted to about 4500 barrels, and prices have improved 1s. to 1s. 3d. per cwt. Rosin is taken of the inferior, and Spirits of Turpentine are sold for higher prices, but in less demand. Pitch is not yet offered, and it is an article of import that rarely answers, owing to the preference given to the home manufacture on account of quality.

Quercitron Bark is held at our quotations, being some advance on late sales; and were the importers willing to meet the dealers at about 75s. to 18s. per cwt. the article would go off freely.

Cattle bones.—We notice a sale to mention a reduction of the duty—now only 1 per cent ad valorem.

Tobacco.—At the present rates, which it will be observed are lower than our last quotations, there is rather more demand. About 300 hhds of Kentucky and Carolina have been taken lately for export at 5. 1. 2d to 6d for common, and 5. 1. 3d up to 7 for fair brown. The trade men purchase rather more freely, but there is appearance of improving in prices.

Timber.—The state of the timber market is most discouraging, and since our last there have arrived 7 cargoes from the United States, 35 from British America, 27 from Europe—total 70. Besides all which there are about 200 cargoes in bond for the duties. A few cargoes of common and Pitch Pine have been taken on speculation, but there is very little country demand, and the trade generally are afraid to purchase even at our present low rates. Of oak there are a few United States' cargoes, but little has yet arrived from Canada. The demand both for oak and hardwood is very limited—good staves are wanted and some considerable parcels have been taken out of the market for London and Ireland. We raise our quotations of Red Oak and Ash hhd. having realized 12d 12s per M. for a choice parcel.

Cedar is become uncertain, and too much has arrived lately; we hear also of further supplies being expected. Of Cotton the import was in the first 7 months of 1815, from

	lbs.	aga.	lbs.
America	72680		125930
Brazil & Lisbon	31500		58500
Butch Colonies	14680		12290
Other Parts	10070		11920
	128,930		208,440

Showing an increase in the present year of 79,510 bags. Our sales in July have nearly corresponded with the import viz about 340,000 bags each. In the last three weeks our import amounts to 22,265 bags, and our sales are not more than two-thirds the same quantity, yet upon the whole we remain in respect of stock nearly the same as the end of June. During the whole of last, and for the greater part of this present month, the demand for Cotton has been very regular, and some little improvement in the vent for goods and yarn having instilled more confidence, prices of most kinds have recovered from the depression they had previously sustained, and the article is steady at our quotations. The export so far this year has been 4500 bags, of which 1100 only have been sent to Ireland. We are, respectfully, your humble servants.

JAMES KENNEDY & SON,

BOOKSELLERS, KING STREET,

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT MEDICINE Store, No. 46 Maiden Lane, N. York

A FRESH SUPPLY

Of the following genuine Medicines.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, is recommended

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West Indies, and the Southern & Middle States, particularly in N. York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons at each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe, that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives, when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertion.

It is not, indeed, presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these Pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate, and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile & prevent its morbid secretions—to restore & amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which is so often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of, as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent, and is also mild in its operation, cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels, of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

DESCRIPTION OF WORMS.

And the symptoms by which they are known:

Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz.—The Terebra, or large round worm; the Ascarides, or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitaria, or short, flat, white worm; and lastly, the Taenia, or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long, and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious; purging, with slimy & foetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever, with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success, in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has resorted to health and strength a great number, when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, asthmatic cough, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellant minerals, (the basis of other lotions) and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c. The Persian Lotion operates mildly, without impeding the natural insensible perspiration, which is essential to health; yet its effects are speedy and permanent, rendering the skin delicately soft and smooth and improving the complexion.

The Restorative Powder for the teeth and Gums.

This excellent preparation comforts and strengthens the gums; preserves the enamel from decay, and cleanses and whitens the teeth, by absorbing all the acrimonious slime and foulness, which suffered to accumulate, never fails to injure and finally ruin them.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative.

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of the various complaints resulting from dissipated pleasures, juvenile indiscretions, residence in climates unfavourable to the constitution, the immoderate use of tea, frequent in oxication or any other destructive intemperance the unskillful or excessive use of mercury, the diseases peculiar to females at a certain period of life, bad lyings in, &c.

HAMILTON'S ELIXIR.

Sovereign remedy for Colds, obstinate Coughs, Asthmas, sore throats, and approaching Consumptions, and most disorders of the breast and lungs.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooths Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops.

For the cure of agues, remittent, and intermittent fevers.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.

At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.
